CONSERVATION GENETIC BIBLIOGRAPHY:

I have compiled a bibliography focused on genetics and conservation that contains over 95,000 references. This bibliography is updated regularly can be searched at <http://www.lib.umt.edu/guide/allendorf.htm>. The primary focus of this bibliography is genetic variation in natural populations of animals, plants, and microbes. The secondary focus has been conservation, with an emphasis on the application of genetic principles to conservation. There is a taxonomic bias towards fish, especially salmon, trout, and their kin. There has been no effort to exclude papers dealing with other taxa, but there has been an effort to include more papers on the general biology and natural history of salmonid fishes.
